Angus Folk Museum [WorldCat Identities]

The Angus Folk Museum is still on the most recent tourist map we have and we were really disappointed to find it closed because of the building's condition. This one had quite an extensive display in a few buildings.

Angus Folk Museum (Glamis)

The contents of the museum included a kitchen from Craichie, a Victorian farmhouse parlour, a schoolhouse and a forge from a smithy at Eassie.

Angus Folk Museum, Glamis

A very clean very tight copy with bright unmarked boards and no bumping to corners. Edinburgh: National Trust for Scotland, 1980. The old cottages of the current museum are of great character and well worth conserving.

Angus Folk Museum (Glamis)

The stonework is almost all from the late 14th century, with only minor repairs carried out in the 1580s.

Angus Folk Museum, Glamis

It was planned as a courtyard with ranges of buildings on each side, although only the northern and north-western buildings were completed. Basically its a museum about life in bygone days.

As not all are yet online, please ask us for your search items as we may have the book you are seeking waiting to be catalogued. It is a small museum but it is also very interesting and they have tried to pack a lot into the space. Photo taking is restricted which is a shame because it is very useful to have photos as well as a diary of places you visit.
