Biodiversity Support Program (BSP)

It is bound in the north by Anambra state, on the west by Delta state, on the south by rivers and on the east by Abia state. Although no reliable data is found from within the country, it is estimated that traditional fuels meet over 85 % of energy needs and the remainder is met by commercial sources of oil, gas, coal, and hydropower, much of which is imported. The BSP combines both education and support, extends from pregnancy to the postnatal period, and uses a protocolled series of six individual consults delivered by an IBCLC.

Finally, breastfeeding initiation was almost universal 99. Resources balance will also be positive if the faster rising remittance can be diverted towards the investment in productive sectors from spending on consumption items and real estate development. There is truly something for everyone! Higher penetration of electrification in freight, inter-city and intra-city transport 10.
