“Filipino time” revisited —

The holocaust in Europe and Japanese atrocities in Asia generated political momentum in the immediate post-war years for the establishment of an international human rights protection system.

Moral Education Revisited: Truth and Justice as Educational Goals on JSTOR

Its sound and effect was quite the opposite of the rougher Bikol of the smaller, darker, barefoot and unperfumed farmers, which is a Bikol seemingly rife with hard and abrupt consonants. .

“Filipino time” revisited —

However, since most or all of these concepts are no better than the figments of a foreign imagination, they were never actually taken seriously. Rather, it is an elitist prerogative incumbent on those very people who uphold the structure of government and whose criticisms are directed at maintaining it. .

Manila Revisited: Enduring Gems — UniPro

There also remains anxiety about ethnicity in some of the countries studied, and about the need to maintain social stability as essential to orderly economic development.

and Democracy in Asia

Thus, the opportunity for a much greater two-way flow of ideas and experience in dealing with the numerous problems presents itself. Let us not forget that most of us grew up in at least a two language environment — the local dialect and Tagalog. There is an echo of how the Nazis taunted and harassed those who were seen as too cosmopolitan and allegedly foreign-controlled, especially Germans of Jewish descent.

Filipino Identity Revisited

CULTURE AND INDONESIAN DEMOCRACY Leo Suryadinata Liberal Democracy 1949-58 Upon independence from the Dutch, Indonesia immediately introduced a form of liberal parliamentary democracy. They became the first Asians to declare their independence from colonial rule.

Lacson: Time to Revisit, Make Anti

Most have evolved through hard or soft developmental authoritarianism to some form of democracy, in the sense of having elections, universal suffrage and political parties. However we are speaking of 60 percent of our population who live below the poverty line who should have a good grasp of a national language before a second language is forced on them.
