When a Competitor Hires Your Former Employee: Enforcing Your Rights

NEW NONCOMPETE PROVISIONS The new law on noncompetes, Massachusetts Gen. This may be because employers usually have more power than employees, and so have greater discretion in how they treat employees, than employees have in how they treat employers. The most significant exception to the rule is health maintenance organizations.

Relationships between Principal and Agent

This is the issue that all courts should address because, if courts adopt the Wilson reasoning, a significant step in the right direction would be made. It then outlined factors that other courts had considered in determining that an independent contractor could be an agent of a hospital. Stage 1 related to issues surrounding the class and collective action certification motions.
