Life, Love And Murder: A Secret Lodz Ghetto Time Capsule

Most of the deported were murdered in the gas chambers of Birkenau.

Lodz Ghetto

An important role in fighting crime and ensuring peace and order in the Lodz Ghetto was undertaken by the High Chamber of Control, the Jewish police and the administration of justice. When the ghetto was first established, the streets that formed the boundaries were as follows: Goplanska — Zurawia — Wspolna — Stefana — Okopowa — Czarnieckiego — Sukiennicza - Marysinska — Inflancka — along the Jewish cemetery walls, and then Bracka — Przemyslowa — Srodkowa — Glowackiego — Brzezinska — Oblegorska — Chlodna — Smugowa — Nad Lodka — Stodolnia — na — Podrzeczna — Drewnowska — Majowa — Wrzesnienska — Pivna — Urzednicza — to Zgierska and Goplanska.

You had a drink if you could boil the water, ate, perhaps, if you had crumbs of bread, and worked all day long. This is evidence that the published ghetto records are an incomplete list of all Jews incarcerated in the ghetto. All schools had their own canteens and health care, which was free for poor children.
