Ashta Pratiharya

I consider myself a very focused person, but I now make a concerted effort to follow all of those things I have started to their conclusion, and to give them the attention they deserve. I feel a sense of guilt if I do not devote 100% of my attention to my students when they are in the room. Through this choice, I can develop a strong and purposeful connection with something else and act in a way that will encourage change to come.

Acharya Prashant

The smells, the steam, the vegetables from my garden. However, those who successfully make a difference in their own lives or in the lives of others, move to action. The student who is humble, accepting that the guided reflection is necessary, that they are uncomfortable and want help, that these teachings have been transmitted from teacher to student for thousands of years.

Sutra I.1

It is very easy for a garden to become overridden with weeds or to dry out. It will take the most astute student, one who is disciplined and focused, one with a sense of adventure, to be able to immerse themselves into its mysteries.

Acharya Prashant

Multitasking is an important skill, but I see now how it has created stress and a lack of inner peace in my life. Prior to that, I was committed. How committed are you to your partner, friends, family? I moved to Chicago 5 years ago to attend grad school.

Acharya Prashant

Are you reading this blog, watching TV, talking on skype and texting all at the same time? Everything I choose to throw myself into is just an action that helps connect me to a much larger commitment.

Ashta Pratiharya

It can help players generate unrestricted star coins, diamond jewelry as well as VIP moves for to twelve months up.

Ashta Pratiharya

My commitment is not fully made if I am not all there.

Ashta Pratiharya

Starting this journey again, revisiting the text and the sutras for a second time. Once I graduated, nothing changed.
