History of Cymryd Rhan, caring for people since 1986 Cymryd Rhan

The aim of the present paper is to distil findings from research into the views and experiences of families of people with intellectual disabilities IDs.

The implementation of the All

. Data for this study were derived from a qualitative, in-depth study of the experiences of parents of 33 coresident adult offspring with learning disabilities.

They also organize and facilitate collaborations with local, state, and federal agencies, as well as non-local areas and organizations.

Services for People with Disabilities

DB 101 brings together rules for health coverage, benefit, and employment programs that people with disabilities use.

The implementation of the All

There was a sense that ID services and professionals withdrew from the family with too much haste. In conclusion we consider how to build on the evidence base. The lower floors became a centre for daytime activities and a base for people to access whatever activities were available in the local area.

Services for People with Disabilities

The project was inspired by the International Camphill Movement. Only a third of the sample received regular individual plan reviews of the services they received and the developmental goals set in their name.
