What is the Organisation of Islamic Cooperation?

Creation of economic opportunities for the unemployed and empowerment of women will also remain a targeted area of action. The low fertility levels for the Muslim-majority societies in question, it should be noted, have generally been achieved on substantially lower levels of income, education, urbanization, modern contraception utilization, and the like than those that characterize the more developed regions with which their fertility levels currently correspond today. Contemporary political machinations involving the United States or other major Western powers also create problems for many would-be Muslim participants.

The Islamic World and Modern Challenges

And say to those who have been given the Book and the Unlearned people : Do you submit yourselves? In Turkey, fertility levels were comparable to Hawaii; even in south Turkey, fertility levels were just about the same as in Nebraska.
