Carrie Chapman Catt Leads Movement for Women's Right to Vote

Recognizing the international dimensions of the suffrage issue, in 1902, Catt founded the International Woman Suffrage Alliance to spread democracy around the globe. Grace Raymond Hebard photo file, UW American Heritage Center.

Women's suffrage: Carrie Chapman Catt

In 1918, President Woodrow Wilson converted to the cause of suffrage and supported a national constitutional amendment. In 1904, she resigned her NAWSA presidency in order to care for her ailing husband.
