innovative companies financially supported by the EIC thus de-risking the cost of innovation. The discussion was organized in the shape of a round table by involving the main stakeholders of these measures, whose target audience is primarily the beneficiaries of basic research projects. Its main purpose was not to maximise the return on investments, but to accompany the companies in their growth as patient capital investor.

EPSO news 'A new European Research Area for Research and Innovation'

The award aimed to show the wider socio-economic benefits of EU investment in research and innovation. System and Process Audits were introduced. Participants had an opportunity to co-create the future Horizon Europe impact tool kits in particular the climate impact survey that will be tested within the Green Deal Call 2020.

Quantifying progress towards the European Research Area: Alternative indicators of European integration in the field of research

How the implementation modalities will reinforce and enable the main objectives of the programme itself? What is the uniqueness of EIC? The intention was to support the co-creation process between EIC beneficiaries and European public procurers of innovation, in order to be able to help public European procurers to make their sourcing from a community of very

THE EUROPEAN RESEARCH AREA: TOWARDS FULL RECOGNITION OF REGIONAL INNOVATION HUBS

Towards European Sovereignty and Autonomy in AI The purpose of this session was to discuss how the different European initiatives will interact and boost their own resources to establish the basis for the European sovereignty and autonomy in AI. EPSO is collaborating with European learned societies and research organisations in the Initiative for Science in Europe ISE as a strong voice of the scientific community discussing with the European Commission and Member States recommendations for the ERA.
