In December, January, and February, a vessel will sometimes meet with a good wind from Mocha to Cosseir, and accomplish the run in six or seven days, whereas it is impossible to do the same from Cosseir to Mocha except in summer. This fact has been confirmed by experiment; it has been ascertained in effect that the agitation of the sea caused by the wind, is communicated to a certain depth, variable according to the wind, according to the sea, and the places where the observations were made, and that beyond that depth the sea is perfectly calm. Communication means open-mindedness above all.

Mathieu de Lesseps

Now, we learn from history, that from the most distant ages, this navigation has flourished in the Red Sea, and that after the discovery of the Cape of Good Hope in 1497, the Portuguese considered it necessary to have a fleet, which, in 1538, destroyed all the merchant vessels of the Turks and Venetians. He considers that nature has herself traced out the communication between the two Seas, in the line of this depression. They deal with what you are experiencing - or what you will be brought to experience one day - or they deal with your inner motivations.
