A frequent speaker at TED and other conferences, he has contributed to such publications as Harvard Business Review and Foreign Policy. The difference between right and wrong is defined by a view portrayed by the world that has no foundation and is only defined by ourselves and what WE believe. Is it moral or ethical to lie to someone? Where did you learn this, and how, in the 21st century, with the arc of history and the words of God before you, can you possibly allow the once-noble Republican Party to continue on this road? We all know that if violence without cause is
