All work is required to comply with the applicable codes, standards and ordinances. The enforcement of these codes is the responsibility of state or local officials.

5. Hazard Assessments and Workplace Inspections

The full scoping and technical requirements of the California Building Code regulations for electric vehicle charging stations should be reviewed and applied in the design and construction of electric vehicle charging stations. It should therefore be assumed that the side-by-side analysis, including comment from the Department of Justice, is subject to revision.
