Excerpt from Principles of American Forestry The first edition of copies of Forestry in Minne sota was published by the Minnesota Forestry Association and has been received with much favor.

Principles of American forestry : Green, Samuel B. (Samuel Bowdlear), 1859

The first edition is practically exhausted, but the demand for it continues to increase, and it is this demand, and the fact that it concerns a subject closely related to the development of this state, which has induced the Board of Regents to publish it as a portion of the report of the Geological and Natural History Survey of Minnesota. We do, however, repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully; any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works.
