A Disorder For Everyone! • Sami Timimi

After working for over 6 years in UK CAMHS teams in Lincolnshire, he emigrated to Australia in July 2011, and is now bringing some of the new and innovative ideas that were developed with the UK teams to the other side of the planet. OO-CAMHS could very well begin to change the face of mental health care in the UK. Barry Duncan OO-CAMHS is a whole service model that incorporates existing evidence on how to improve outcomes, reduce non-attendance and dropout rates and save money through improved therapeutic efficiency.

There is nothing typical about the range of behaviours seen in ASD and ADHD. There is some evidence that used judiciously short term a few days, weeks, or months it can be beneficial.

Rethinking ADHD: From Brain to Culture

In particular, he is still working with the OO-CAMHS team in Lincolnshire, not only to support the development of the new model in the UK, but also to help to show its applicability to Australian clinical populations too. Unless your child is on a mandatory treatment order legally, then exercise your rights to decide what is right for your child and I believe most physicians will respect this and hopefully provide the relevant prescription.

I know may great psychiatrists, but without personal recommendation, given the nature of current dominant models, you are putting your loved one in danger of being prescribed medications that may lead to some short term gain at the expense of long term enslavement to a 'chronic' disease model, to difficult to come off meds and lack of empowerment to take control of finding a path for their own recovery. Alternative evidence-based models for organising effective mental health care are available and should be used more widely.
