A Brief Explanation of Evolution

Lamarck proposed that acquired traits were passed down to offspring.

Medieval and Renaissance Concepts of Evolution and Paleontology

However, higher order primates also have a sense of fairness. In the latter, the human experimenter chooses individual specimens of a plant or animal possessing certain desired characteristics, and gets them to reproduce; and then again, among their offspring, he selects those he prefers, leaving out those he is not interested in, and gets the new generation to reproduce; and so forth, until he obtains a generation that will reproduce the desired characteristics in all offspring.

College Biology: Evolution: Concepts and Mechanism

If religion had to await the evolution of modern, articulate language, then it too would have emerged shortly before 50,000 years ago.

5.15: Theory of Evolution by Natural Selection

The degree of similarity reflects the recency of common ancestry. The individual human brain has to explain a phenomenon in order to comprehend and relate to it.

Medieval and Renaissance Concepts of Evolution and Paleontology

If such hybrids turn out to be well adapted to environmental conditions, hybridization is a mechanism that produces new species. Matt Rossano suggests that the period between 80,000—60,000 years before present, following the retreat of humans from the Levant to Africa, was a crucial period in the evolution of religion.
