Leicestershire in Print

This Club played on the Wharf Street near the centre of Leicester until 1860 when the property was sold for construction, and the Club had to play throughout the town on other insufficient places but had no regular fixtures against another county.

Kegworth Town Cricket Club : history

Success is all about understanding and managing probabilities. Into the last half of the 20th century George Green played a prominent part in the club's history.

This could therefore be considered mostly as a precursor to the modern county team and has played games against all other early county sides and even the MCC. And that, as far as I am aware, is just about it for Leicestershire, other than a couple more to mention, both from Dennis Lambert and both from Tempus Publishing, one each from their Images of Sport and 100 Greats series, published in 2000 and 2001 respectively. The match screen has 5 tabs, each one giving you valuable tips that will enable you to place a perfect bet.
