In many cases budgets were not adequate and houses, originally refurbished for 30 years or so, required substantial extra investment after less than 10 years. Chamberlain is willing to be serious with himself, he must know perfectly well that even by the time of Dante seven or eight centuries had passed, and by the time of the other great Italians he mentions eight or ten centuries had passed, since the Germanic invasion. In recent years the use of pre-mixed mortars has become common.

The feet of the rafters were designed to provide a roof overhang or to finish flush with the wall. The other example is a look at a middle aged woman who explains perfectly the way labor and societal norms at this time affected women in particular and how they reacted.

Roosevelt, Theodore. 1913. History as Literature: VIII. The Foundations of the Nineteenth Century

But given his epistemology he could not presume, as did Voltaire and Condorcet, that the teleological progression of history was empirically discernible within the past. And, best of all, most of its cool features are free and easy to use.

Historical Foundations of Race

The graphics below show typical foundations at the end of the 1800s.

The History of Sociology

The biggest difference was not just that history involved values, but that the very means by which we come to our knowledge about the past differs from that by which we explain objects external to us.

The Transformation of Cities and the Urban Experience

A row of postmodern philosophers such as Roland Barthes 1915-1980 , Paul de Man 1919-1983 , Jean-François Lyotard 1924-1988 , Gilles Deleuze 1925-1995 , Philippe Lacoue-Labarthe 1940-2007 , and Jacques Derrida 1930-2004 came to view not just the events of history but also the writing of history to be necessarily colored by power-based subjectivity. Her emphasis here is on how 'the forms of English identity and belonging produced by the British nation-state in the age of its first empire' led to 'the naturalization of certain forms of identities--social, sexual, political, racial, and national--whose traces refuse to disappear' 159.
