Sweden: A Role Model for Elderly Care.

Caregiving for Family and Friends — A Public Health Issue

Several factors affect our mental health, be it personal, social or professional with impacts which can be both positive or negative. As the quality of the national health system improves, and the parastatals focus increasingly on their own economic needs to remain competitive in production for export see Chapters 32 and 33 , a transfer of their hospitals to the national public system will be designed for implementation by the year 2005.
