He or she is more likely to regret earlier inattention—I should have been forced harder to learn it! She was currently playing a game. As animals lacking predators may overrun a territory, reality-twisting demagogues quickly dominate debate—who wants bad news about tiny progress? Improving education thus becomes reengineering surroundings to unlock blocked natural virtues.

Returning from the Immortal World

For many 38 Bad Students, Not Bad Schools attending classes is just a nuisance—between a third and 40 percent admit they are not paying attention or not trying hard. Take this Shi Biao for example. Moreover, and this is absolutely critical, the values for the last three elements are currently not only low say 3 on a 10 point scale but substantial benefits flow from this intervention.
