Meihuaquan

At the basic level, duida are only for two opponents and of two kinds: hand-and-kick techniques, or falling techniques.

Meihuaquan

In many of the rural areas in which meihuazhuang has been practiced for centuries, the founding of the sect is attributed to the mythological figure Yun Pan. Some write Wumeiquan with other ideograms e.

Meihuaquan

He was caught by the Ching Court, found guilty, and executed by dismemberment. There are various traditions regarding the foundation of this style; it is said that Meihuaquan has no single founder. Another maintained that Meihuaquan would have been present before the time of emperor 187-140 B.

Meihuaquan

This type of Meihuaquan differs from the Ganzhi Wushi Meihuazhuang and the Baijiazhi in having only four postures rather than the usual five: dashi, aoshi, xiaoshi, and baishi. It is said that Zhou Beitao had spent a whole winter working under plum trees before he succeeded in creating this style of boxing. Ganzhi is a contraction of , or more fully Tiangan Dizhi Wushi Meihuazhuang.

Meihuaquan

Some forms are called Meihua, and in particular one is known as Meihuaquan.
