Improving teaching and learning: ideas for heads of department

In confronting this challenge it is necessary to consider the complexity of the education system itself and the multitude of problems that must be addressed. A strong, stable, diverse, well-prepared teaching and leadership workforce is perhaps the most important ingredient for a positive school climate that supports effective whole child education. Human relationships are the essential ingredient that catalyzes healthy development and learning.

Improving Assessment in Higher Education

The above suggestions of some different possibilities of implementing changes, stem from the conviction that such special, differentiated approaches can be very beneficial and can have significant positive effects on the teaching and learning process in our education system. Students dynamically shape their own learning.

Improving Assessment in Higher Education

One way to create stronger relationships is by structuring small schools or small learning communities that feature structures such as advisory systems in which advisors work with a small group of students over multiple years, teaching teams that share students, or looping teachers with the same students over 2 years or more. But developing these relationships can be difficult in most U. Abstract: Helps universities and colleges pay greater attention to improving teaching and enhancing student learning through an approach to change that is founded on research and practical experience.
