The Cell Cycle: Cell Cycle Regulation

Cytoplasm was withdrawn from one of these mid-meiotic oocytes with a fine hypodermic needle, and then injected into a pre-meiotic oocyte.

Regulation and checkpoints of Cell cycle

These events in the cell cycle need regulation, therefore the progression of cells through cell cycle is controlled by checkpoints at different stages. MPF reaches a threshold concentration in G₂ that triggers entry into mitosis.

Regulation of the Cell Cycle (Interactive Tutorial)
