Atlas of Essential Wildlife Habitats for Endangered and Threatened Species

Some subunits contain all PBFs and support multiple life processes, while some subunits may contain only PBFs necessary to support the species' particular use of those subunits as habitat. The proposed State forest HCPs and any section 10 a 1 B permits will not be completed prior to the publication of this document; thus, they do not yet fulfill the above criteria. Of the lands transferred in trust to the CCBUTI, 14,604 acres 5,910 hectares are located within currently designated critical habitat. These can be useful for better understanding how a document is structured but are not part of the published document itself.

The incremental effects included: 1 An increased workload for action agencies and the Service to conduct reinitiated section 7 consultations for ongoing actions in newly designated critical habitat areas proposed for designation that were not already included within the extant designation ; 2 the cost to action agencies of including an analysis of the effects to critical habitat for new projects occurring in occupied areas of designated critical habitat; and 3 potential project alterations in areas where owls are not currently present within designated critical habitat.

Dune Grass Habitat: Essential For More Than The Birds

Essential Wildlife Habitat pertains only to definitions under Maine's endangered species laws 12 MRSA, Chapter 713, Subchapter V, Sections 7754 and 7755-A and regulations MDIFW Rules, Chapter 8.

In a separate proceeding, the U. S. Start Printed Page 38262A federalism summary impact statement is not required. Basic conservation biology principles and metapopulation dynamics predict that those remnant and now isolated northern spotted owl subpopulations would likely die off without regular genetic and demographic interaction with northern spotted owls from neighboring subpopulations.

Listed Species: Endangered & Threatened Species: Wildlife: Fish & Wildlife: Maine Dept of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife

For example, if the bulk of the northern spotted owl's habitat were to be removed except for the portion that exists in national parks, one could reasonably conclude the subspecies would not go extinct immediately, say within 1 to 5 years. All the areas within the designation of critical habitat are within the geographical area occupied at the time of listing and encompass forested areas with specific characteristics, described further below, which are the abiotic and biotic setting that currently or periodically contains the resources and conditions necessary to support one or more life processes of the species. That is, we anticipate some loss of habitat within individual critical habitat units and, for the human-caused impacts, have worked closely with land managers to ensure these impacts are consistent with the long-term recovery of the species.
