When Dinner calls, the Implement must wait With holy words to consecrate the Meat, But hold it for a Favour seldom known, If he be deigned the Honour to sit down. .

Papers mainly concerning the endowment of new churches

He focusses first on the main course of architectural development of the church, 'invariably the most important and conspicuous public architecture'--though this is less true later in the century, when county court houses tended to cost as much as a church, and gaols much more.
