Café racer

His road-race-styled Café Racer built from 1977 to 1979 was a departure and a famous flop. Although many riders of four-strokes associate café racers with four-stroke motors and British marques, and with an era prior to the onslaught of mostly-Japanese two-strokes, owners of two-stroke standard motorcycles have also been as enthusiastic at modifying their motorcycles into café racers, although the riders are less likely to ape 1950s clothing and hair fashions.

The Best Fitting Motorcycle Gloves You Can Buy

Occasionally, café racers might be fitted with half- or even full- race-style fairings. During the course of the 1980s, manufacturers mostly phased out two-stroke standard motorcycles, replacing them with race replicas. A young driver, Speed Racer, aspires to be champion of the racing world with the help of his family and his high-tech Mach 5 automobile.

Racer

Café racers were standard production bikes that were modified by their owners and optimized for speed and handling for quick rides over short distances.
