Jamatul Ahrar welcomes new Al Qaeda branch

Are you a dedicated reader of FDD's Long War Journal? This is intended to confer legitimacy on their claim to rule over all Muslims.

ISLAMABAD: A new breakaway faction of the Pakistani Taliban on Friday welcomed Al Qaeda chief Ayman al-Zawahiri's announcement of the launch of a South Asian branch of the terror network. The Pakistani military has been waging a major assault on TTP bases in North Waziristan tribal area since mid-June and says it has crippled the militants' command and control structure.

Al Jama`ah

The Islamic State controls very little territory today, after once dominating a geographic region roughly the size of Great Britain. Abu Umar was an obscure, largely unknown man at the time.

Kitāb al

Umar has appeared wearing a black turban and beard in several online videos produced by Al Qaeda and the TTP.

Islamic State confirms Baghdadi's death, names new 'Emir of the Faithful'

The Mehsuds were widely seen as the most important group in the TTP and their loss was regarded as a major blow.

Abu Musab al

The breakaway Jamatul Ahrar freedom fighters group announced its split on Thursday and named Omar Khalid Khorasani as its commander.

Islamic State confirms Baghdadi's death, names new 'Emir of the Faithful'

Ehsanullah Ehsan, spokesman for the new Pakistani Taliban bloc, named Tehreek-I-Taliban Pakistan TTP Jamatul Ahrar, hailed Zawahiri's call.

Abu Musab al

Dan barangsiapa yang tetap kafir sesudah janji itu, maka mereka itulah orang-orang yang fasik. Cahayanya telah membuka mata peradaban yang mengalami kegelapan selama + 600 tahun, yakni sejak diangkatnya nabi Isa a. Thomas Joscelyn is a Senior Fellow at the Foundation for Defense of Democracies and the Senior Editor for FDD's Long War Journal.
