The Illusioned Ear: Disembodied Sound & The Musical Séances Of Francis Grierson

This hypothesis of the existence of spirit, both in man and out of man, and their possible and actual inter-communication, must be judged exactly in the same way as we judge any other hypothesis—by the nature and variety of the facts it includes and accounts for, and by the absence of any other mode of explaining so wide a range of facts. There was a large secession, and the building was claimed by the trustees. New York: Burt Franklin Resources and Work Series, date unknown, p.

He writes: With mediums, generally it is necessary to sit for a formal séance before anything is heard; but in the case of Miss Fox it seems only necessary for her to place her hand on any substance for loud thuds to be heard in it, like a triple pulsation, sometimes loud enough to be heard several rooms off. Bones unearthed in 1904 that were claimed by Spiritualists and some newspapers as the remains of the putative peddler have never been verified, nor has any record of a peddler of that name or variants been discovered. The pastor and his advisers were much puzzled as to whether a more public demonstration should be tolerated.

I have seen deafness cured by his touch, grievous sores of many months date in a few days healed; obstructions and stoppings removed, and cancerous knots in the breast dissolved. Yet to impute any definite physical effect to imagination is merely to state the facts, and to hide our complete ignorance of the causes or laws which govern them.
