A sermon preach'd before the Queen : at the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, London, on the seventh of September, 1704 : being the thanksgiving

The Chaplain reflects on the desolation of Holy Saturday in contrast to the celebration of Easter Sunday, and that Christ has walked the same path as us, wherever we are in our lives. We heard it sung in the original form of English it was composed in, so let me try and translate it a little into something like the English we speak today: 27 November 2016 On Advent Sunday, the Precentor challenges each of us to 'Know Thyself'.

Looking specifically at King Henry VIII, The Reverend Daniel Sandham looks at the changes made during his reign - political as well as religious - and says he finds it hard to 'celebrate' Henry's reign, despite it 'giving birth to so much we hold dear in the Anglican tradition'. The Dean reflects on how we can understand the Bible when we are confronted with uncomfortable and difficult passages.
