NOAA Fisheries reminds all fishermen and boaters to keep a safe distance from whales. The IMO Secretariat worked with the European Maritime Safety Agency EMSA for harmonizing reporting procedures with the European Marine Casualty Information Platform EMCIP and avoiding duplication of reporting. Some content on this site is available in all official languages.

Recreational Fishing Licenses and Permits

Before the International Mariners Organization created the global set of rules, it was left up to individual governments, which posed problems as mariners crossed international boundaries.
