Transformation of the rural settlement pattern and social services network in rural areas

A complicating factor is that OGPU officials seem to have at times spoken of large farms and kommuny, a type of collective that became quite controversial at this time, interchangeably. The collective farmers had, it was further noted, complained as a result, but nothing had been done to remedy the situation. In the USSR the principal rural agricultural settlements are the central settlements of the kolkhozes 32,500 and sovkhozes 13,200.
