On May 1st, 1827 5587-8 a. Samuel, has taken a summer residence, and visit their mother, Mrs Montefiore, at Kennington Terrace. He used often to speak about the days of his apprenticeship in the business of one of their neighbours in Kennington, and how hard he had to work; when subsequently he was in a counting-house in the city, the hours were late, and he sometimes had to take letters to the post on the stroke of midnight.
