Christ Divided: Liberalism, Ecumenism and Race in South Africa : Thomas, David: Amazon.sg: Books

Economically, Most Calvinists have supported capitalism and have been in the vanguard of promoting market capitalism and have produced many of France's leading entrepreneurs. David Thomas does mention this document in his book.

Orthodox Christian Initiative for Africa: Neoliberalism and the Gospel

In its report for the 2004 World Conference, the committee concluded that while there was an openness to further meetings and discussions, there were concerns about several issues including new entrance criteria based on theology and the Community of Christ's acceptance of extra-biblical scriptures.

Is Critical Race Theory Compatible with Christian Faith?

Hundreds of small energetic congregations, with little more than a bulldozer and a building crew, have built new churches. It seems to me that for many Christians the Gospel of Neoliberalism has replaced the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Is Critical Race Theory Compatible with Christian Faith?

On May 15 1961, John XXIII promulgated the encyclical , which reaffirmed the Church's anti-socialist stances.
